Read-only sources → validated data products → traceable computational evidence

Every published count, table and quantitative panel is generated from manifests or experiment outputs.